

TAN WU MENG (陈有明)

Tan Wu Meng, 40, is a doctor specialising in Medical Oncology and a Consultant at Parkway Cancer Centre. Wu Meng started his medical career at the Singapore General Hospital (SGH), specialising in Medical Oncology at the National Cancer Centre Singapore (NCCS) where he worked until early 2015.

During his public sector career, Wu Meng worked to improve patient care, holding multiple clinical and administrative appointments. He served as Director (Outpatient Care) for the NCCS Division of Medical Oncology, and was appointed to the SingHealth Specialist Outpatient Clinic Task Force. He was also Pro-Tem Committee Member for the Sengkang Hospital Project. Wu Meng helped mentor junior doctors, and served as a member of the SingHealth Physician Faculty.

Wu Meng's passion for patient care has been recognised with the SingHealth Quality Service Award and the NCCS Cares Special Mention Award. He was part of the Singapore Cancer Society's (SCS) Cancer Care Task Force.

From 2006 to 2009, Wu Meng served with the North West CDC as Councillor and Vice-Chair of the Youth Works Sub-Committee. From 2007 to 2011 he was a member of the Senja-Cashew Youth Executive Committee (YEC), and sat on the Senja-Cashew Citizens' Consultative Committee (CCC) from 2010 to 2013.

Wu Meng's medical training was at Trinity College, University of Cambridge where he graduated with Distinctions in Medicine and Pathology. He also received a MBBChir-PhD programme scholarship from Cambridge University to pursue a PhD at the UK Medical Research Council's Laboratory of Molecular Biology.

Wu Meng is married with one daughter.